

Area description

Alanya, facing the Mediterranean Sea at the foot of the beautiful Taurus-mountains, is a well functioning holiday city with Turkish hospitality, inviting climate and a beautiful nature. In addition to the impressive beaches the city and the surrounding countryside Alanya offers historical sights, cultural adventures and fine shopping possibilities.

Alanya is, more than any other Turkish holiday city, known for its fine sandy beaches. Golden and inviting, they stretch along the coast on both sides of the town, only interrupted by the cape in the centre and the marina west of the city. Cleopatra Beach on the western side of the cape is the best-known beach. The beautiful Mediterranean Sea as well as the fantastic beaches offers enormous possibilities for water sports.

In the old quarter close to the harbour and the fortress on the cape, the narrow winding streets run past old buildings, cosy restaurants and exciting shops. The fortress on the top of the cape, the octagonal red tower "Kizil Kule" and the shipyard are all worth a visit.
